

WORKSHOP

THE HISTORY OF STRATIGRAPHY IN ARCHAEOLOGICAL PRACTICE

Friday, 16 October 2015

AMERICAN SCHOOL OF CLASSICAL STUDIES

Cotsen Hall, 9 Anapiron Polemou, 106 76 Athens

15.30 Welcome Takis Karkanas (ASCSA) & Astrid Lindenlauf (Bryn Mawr College)

STRATIGRAPHIC RECORDING PROCESS AT SITES IN GREECE

15.45–16.15 Astrid Lindenlauf (Bryn Mawr College) What is good for Zeus is not good for Athena: Excavation technique and recording methods in Olympia and Athens in the 19th century: a comparison.

16.15–16.45 Mantha Zarmakoupi (University of Birmingham & EIE) Dans les décombres: Excavation notes at Delos.

16.45–17.15 Iulia Tzonou-Herbst (ASCSA) The search for stratigraphy at Korakou and Corinth early in the 20th century.

17.15–18.00 Discussion and Coffee Break

BEYOND GREECE AND THE BEGINNING

18.00–18.30 Alexandra Villing (British Museum) A pioneer of stratigraphy? Flinders Petrie's early work in the Nile Delta

18.30–19.00 Panagiotis Karkanas (ASCSA) A geoarchaeological approach in studying stratigraphy

19.00 Final Discussion

For further information, please contact:

Panagiotis Karkanas, Director of the Malcolm H. Wiener Laboratory for Archaeological Science, American School of Classical Studies, 54 Souedias Street, 106 76 Athens, E-mail: tkarkanas@ascsa.edu.gr

Astrid Lindenlauf, Associate Professor, Department of Classical and Near Eastern Archaeology, Bryn Mawr College, 101 N Merion Avenue, 19010 Bryn Mawr, PA, E-mail: alindenlau@brynawr.edu