

The Archaeology of Gender and Bodies in The Ancient Mediterranean. Case Studies ca. 3000-600 BC

Upcoming Talk

Diana Wolf	24 May 2024	"Fusion of Forms: Human-Animal Hybridity in LBA Seals"
------------	-------------	--

Abstract: This presentation begins with an introduction to Aegean seals, providing an overview of human-animal hybrid iconography during the Bronze Age. It will explore theoretical concepts of hybridity, illustrated with archaeological examples from Minoan Crete and the Mycenaean mainland. Given the prominence of human-animal hybrids in the Late Bronze Age, a detailed case study of artifacts from this period will examine the social and cognitive contexts in which these hybrids developed and functioned. This aims to provide a foundation for productive discussions on gender and bodies in the Aegean Bronze Age in the wider workshop context.

Time: 10-10:45 a.m. (Central European Time Zone)

Room: HS 15.11, RESOWI, University of Graz

Zoom link:

<https://uni-graz.zoom.us/j/64041842670?pwd=RIMxWEYyaCtMWEphek0L1VUMnQ2QT09>

Password: Gender

Contact e-mail: eirini.paizi@uni-graz.at

Tel: +43 316 380 8049

organized by the University of Graz, Institute of Classics

